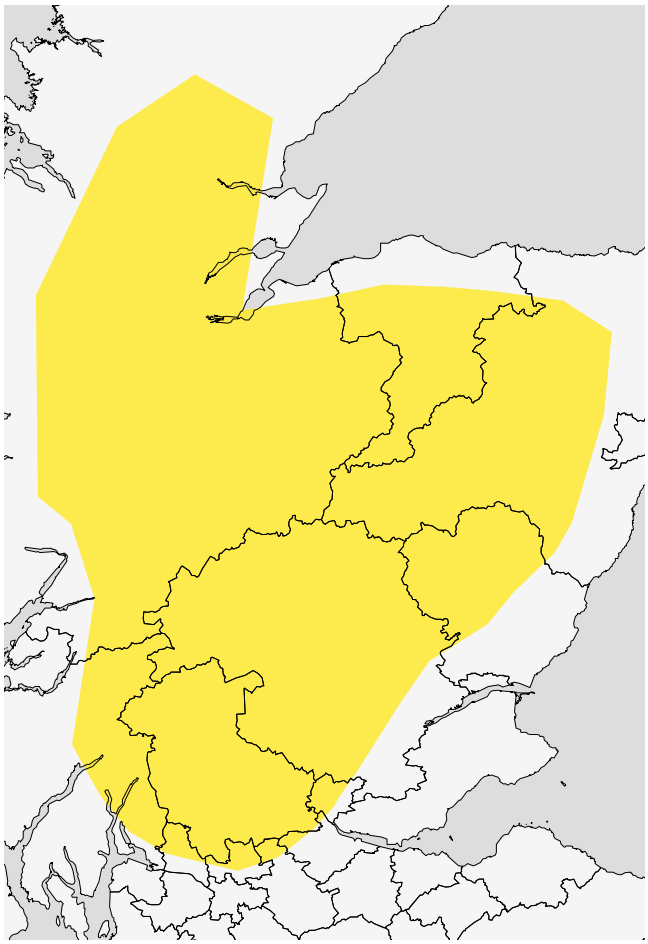
Yellow warning
Snow

Between
04:00 Thu 28 Jan 2021 and
09:00 Fri 29 Jan 2021



Heavy snowfall may bring significant disruption to travel across parts of central and northern Scotland.

What to expect

- Some roads and railways will be affected with longer journey times by road, bus and train services. Some services may be cancelled and there is a small chance of stranded vehicles and passengers.
- There is a slight chance that some rural communities could become cut off
- There is a small chance that power cuts will occur and other services, such as mobile phone coverage, may be affected

Further details

A band of snowfall will push northeast into this region during the early hours of Thursday and become slow-moving before clearing during Friday morning.

Snow may fall to lower elevations for a time with some locations seeing several cm by Friday morning. Above 200 m elevation significant and prolonged snowfall is possible throughout Thursday before easing on Friday morning with the potential for 15-20 cm to accumulate which may lead to transport disruption.

Very low likelihood of medium impacts
